It acts as a network of 30 library branches, with six being children and youth oriented, covering all the city's districts, and addressing all public segments. BML's mission is to facilitate free and non-discriminatory access to information, research, education and recreation, having the branches welcome each community in its own diversity and being inclusive spaces, real cultural and digital hubs.

Bookisit is an NGO founded in 2023 with the mission to promote reading among children through online and offline interventions. Bookisit organizes second-hand children's book fairs and collects book donations for schools and libraries from disadvantaged areas in Romania. The activities are meant to promote the principles of circular economy and to facilitate access to children's books in response to the growing social and economic inequalities in the country.

1.C What is the relationship between your library and your community group? Have you worked together before or is this your first collaboration? Please mention any other local institutions (e.g. public governments, NGOs) that will be involved in the delivery of your challenge work. (Max. 1000 characters with spaces.)

This would be the first project on which the library and Bookisit collaborate at an institutional level. However, the founders of Bookisit are long-time library users turned into library volunteers for different workshops, storytelling events etc. in the past 9 years. The library and the NGO have also worked together informally on numerous occasions supporting each other through resources and communication efforts.

Regarding other local partners, we will secure a partnership with another NGO with solid links to public libraries, Asociația Îndemn la Educație, whose president is also a long-term collaborator of the library and a former librarian at the BML. In addition, all BML branches will benefit from the resources created during the project. Furthermore, we will invite three public libraries from towns located along the Danube River (Drobeta-Turnu Severin, Galați, and Tulcea) to organize workshops for the presentation of the resources created.

1.D What is the challenge you want to solve? Why is it urgent to solve this challenge in your local community and how does it link to one of the three priority topics (social, digital, green)? (Max. 1000 characters with spaces.)

In 2023, Romania implemented The Green Week, a national programme created in accordance with the National Strategy regarding Environmental Education and Climate Change 2023-2030 and the National Strategy for a Sustainable Development Romania 2030. The programme is implemented annually by schools, and consists of five days during which all pupils take part in activities related to environmental education.

There is no standardized approach to the programme and the teachers are free to choose the activities, facts which clearly disadvantage schools from poorer areas of the city, and from smaller towns and rural areas which do not have access to financial and cultural resources. Based on the high number of requests that librarians receive from schools to offer green-themed workshops and the lack of engaging, collaborative, free resources on this green topic, we feel the urgency to come up with an alternative solution to address this issue.

2. Creativity

2.A What idea and/or activity have you come up with to address this challenge? How will your library and community work together to deliver your proposed solution? (Max. 1500 characters with spaces.)

Our aim is to create a free, accessible, and sustainable resource that librarians could use in order to organize activities for the children visiting the library during the Green Week programme, and throughout the year. The idea is to develop a fun, yet informative green-themed board game for children under the age of 12 called Green Journey on the Danube. This collaborative board game will have players travel across the Danube River in Romania and attempt to solve challenges related to pollution, extinction of animals, access to clean water, irrigation, floods, waste management, tourism, overfishing etc. By combining learning with play, Green Journey on the Danube aims to transform environmental education into an engaging experience for children, increasing climate change awareness and fostering a greater responsibility for Earth's future.

After we develop and produce the board game, the library and NGO representatives will organize 10 workshops in BML branches and three workshops at libraries from towns through which the Danube River passes (Drobeta-Turnu Severin, Galați, and Tulcea). We will also offer 100 free copies of the board game to libraries from around the country, prioritizing those from disadvantaged communities. 50 copies of the board game will be distributed among the 30 branches of the BML. The game will also be accompanied by a guide for librarians with ideas on how to extend the conversation around topics such as protecting water resources and ecosystems.

2.B Please upload an image that will help us visualise your proposal as described under 2.A.

(Upload JPEG or PDF files. Maximum file size is 5MB per piece. A maximum of three pieces can be uploaded with your application.)

3. Inclusivity

3.A What type of library are you?
Please tick all that apply.

✓ Public

3.B Who are the people who will benefit from the proposed challenge work? Please tick all that apply.

✓ Children (under 12)

3.C Please describe the ways in which your target group(s) will benefit from the proposed challenge work. (Max. 1000 characters with spaces.)

Once the board game is developed and distributed to the libraries, it will be available to every library user the same as any other library resource. More specifically, for the target group (i.e., children under 12), we will organize board game playing sessions where we will play the game with children in our library branches and also children from the communities we will visit. By learning about environmental concerns associated with the Danube River, e.g., pollution, loss of biodiversity, the children will gain more awareness about these issues, develop critical thinking skills, and a sense of responsibility towards their communities and others who are affected by decisions made upstream or downstream.

We want to create inclusive, participatory play sessions where children learn and engage with the resource created, being able to address environmental issues in a more informed way and eventually get involved in small community-driven initiatives related to the Danube River.

4. Impact

4.A How many people will directly benefit from your proposed challenge work? (Please insert a number.) 300

4.B What is the impact that you are hoping to achieve for local people or the environment with your proposed challenge work? How are you hoping this will change the role your library plays within the local community? (Max. 1000 characters with spaces.)

This project will empower children to learn about environmental sustainability through play. Our idea will contribute to educating the younger generations as active citizens who take a stand on environmental issues and guide local interventions that benefit their communities.

The BML has supported and implemented various green initiatives over the years: The Future is Green, a short collection of environmental stories written and illustrated by children and young adults, Plastic Free July, The Green Shelf, a small collection of books on green topics, and The Little Free Library that acts as an open exchange bookshelf among library users.

Through the development of this board game, we want to expand BML's mission regarding environmental sustainability and show our community that we are a library that cares for people and the environment. Also, by sharing this resource with libraries from around the country we intend to strengthen BML's role as an active green supporter.

4.C What is the expected impact that you are hoping to achieve for the wider regional and international community in Europe? (Max. 750 characters with spaces.)

By sharing the board game and the accompanying guide with libraries across Romania, we aim to inspire these libraries to become hubs for learning about environmental protection. We also plan to share this resource with other European libraries, especially those located in countries through which the Danube River passes, in order to foster cross-border collaboration for the adaptation of the board game to local contexts and to promote the idea that libraries across Europe are active agents in the struggle for sustainability, able to empower young people to take action in regard to environmental challenges.

4.D How are you planning to evaluate whether your challenge work has been successful? (Max. 750 characters with spaces.)

We will gather feedback from children and librarians after the board game workshops to assess engagement, learning outcomes, and satisfaction derived from play. We will monitor the number of workshops held, the number of board games distributed, and their use in local libraries. Feedback from librarians and children will be used in order to make improvements to later iterations of the game to ensure a greater relevance and impact.

5. Scalability

5.A Is your proposed solution transferable, i.e. could it be put into action in other parts of Europe facing the same challenge? What are the concrete steps that you are planning to take to ensure other libraries will be able to replicate your final solution in their own local setting both nationally and internationally? (Max. 1000 characters with spaces.)

Our idea is easily transferable and adaptable to local contexts. The board game addresses universal environmental themes, i.e., pollution, biodiversity, water rights etc., that are relevant for all countries across Europe. We will provide the board game design elements as open-source files as well as the guide for facilitators, making it easy for libraries to adapt and use the board game in their own contexts. By sharing our resources through the professional associations of librarians and social media platforms we want to inspire the development of similar projects in other countries.

6. European Relevance

6.A Why do you want to participate in The Europe Challenge? What do you want to learn from other libraries and communities in Europe? (Max. 750 characters with spaces.)

We want to join The Europe Challenge to learn more about the way in which libraries across Europe engage their communities in participatory projects. In a world where the role of public libraries is constantly challenged, we consider that it is highly important to strengthen the bonds between libraries and communities and to extend the libraries' involvement in community action. We believe this is an incredible opportunity to bring together like-minded individuals and to learn how to strengthen our own initiatives, potentially build new ideas for collaborations, and develop skills that would help us make BML a more inclusive and active hub. The participation would be an excellent networking platform for knowledge and resource sharing.

6.B Have you had previous opportunities for international exchange with European colleagues? If not, please write "no". If yes, please describe. (Max. 750 characters with spaces.)

Our contact person representing the library, Cristina, had two previous opportunities for international exchange. Years ago, she received a grant for the 2019 IFLA WLIC, held in Athens, where she attended the Congress and met librarians from other countries, which sparked curiosity and interest for the librarian international network. More recently, in 2024, she was a Schuman trainee and had the chance to work in the European Parliament Library for five months, next to permanent staff and other fellow trainees.

7. Sustainability

7.A. What steps will you take to ensure your challenge project is delivered in an environmentally sustainable way? (Max. 500 characters with spaces.)

We will use recycled or eco-friendly materials for the production of the board game and attempt to minimize packaging. We will work with local suppliers to reduce transport pollution. The game will be assembled from durable materials to be able to be reused for a long period of time without damages.

7.B How will you ensure that the challenge work you are proposing is sustainable, both in terms of the continuation of the project after ECF funding ceases and in terms of the human resources needed to carry it out? (Max. 500 characters with spaces.)

The sustainability of the project will be ensured through various sources. Bookisit will handle the financial aspects necessary to produce more board games to be distributed across libraries in Romania by securing funding from their corporate sponsors. BML will ensure the human resources necessary in order to continue to organize playing sessions after the ECF funding ceases. In addition, we will continue to provide support for local libraries to develop activities based on the board game.

Programme Support, Mentoring & Budget

The Europe Challenge is a learning programme for libraries and communities, that also offers additional opportunities, including (optional) funding and a peer-to-peer mentorship scheme with alumni of the programme. Please refer to the Open Call and FAQ Documents for more information about these options.

8. In addition to your participation in the learning programme (online/in-person), would you also like to request funding to support your challenge work?

Yes

9. The programme also offers you the opportunity to request a mentor who will provide coaching and guidance throughout your project journey. Mentors are alumni of the programme and act as critical friends and buddies to participating teams. Please see more information on this in the Open Call and FAQ documents. Would you like to have a mentor assigned to your team?

Yes

Budget

9.A If your application is successful, which applicant (library or community group) should receive the grant ("be the main partner")? This is normally the library, but if this is not feasible, the community group can be designated as the main partner.

Library

10.B If you are applying for funding, please elaborate why the funding is necessary and how you intend to distribute the funding between library and community. (Max. 1000 characters with spaces.)

The funding is necessary in order to be able to produce the board game and the guidebook for facilitators and distribute these resources to BML branches and partner libraries. In addition, funding is required to be able to travel and organize the board game workshops in the three public libraries from Tulcea, Galați and Drobeta-Turnu Severin. The library will receive the funding and the NGO representative will be compensated for the work done on the development of the board game as well as for the work required to organize the distribution of the game and the organization of the workshops.
